EUFIC job: Senior Communications Project Manager

The European Food Information Council (EUFIC) is looking for a Senior Communication Project Manager.

Start date: As soon as possible
Deadline: 5 January 2020
Contract duration: 1 year (with a possible extension)

About us

The European Food Information Council (EUFIC) is a Brussels-based non-profit organization specialized in food science communication. Driven by our vision of a world where people live healthier because they know how to, we provide engaging science-based information to inspire and empower healthier and more sustainable lifestyle choices. We also collaborate in a range of European Union-funded projects to help advance innovation to future proof our food system. In 2019 about 75% of our funding comes from public sources, and 25% from membership.

About the job

This is a great opportunity to join a dynamic and highly driven team who work to drive healthier and more sustainable lifestyles.

As part of the communication team, your tasks will include:

- Lead a communications campaign focused on food waste reduction involving partners across multiple European countries
- Develop and contribute to write and present new project proposals to explain food and health science to people, and represent EUFIC externally at times
- Manage project budgets both internally and vis-à-vis external partners to guarantee timely and effective implementation of communication projects
- Support the team in developing written and visual content for both lay and specialized audiences
- Provide strategic support to the wider EUFIC team on effective communication
- Assisting with meeting and events ideation and organization

About you

- You are passionate and enthusiastic about EUFIC's mission
- You have at least 4 years of professional experience in communications, ideally in a non-profit environment
- You know how to frame a problem, understand and solve it, communicate and test your thinking, and turn your solutions into reality

- You are proactive and well organized, and have already managed a team to guarantee successful project planning and execution
- You have run successful social media campaigns
- You know how to set up impactful engagement events
- You think out of the box. You're proactive, independent and willing to help
- You have a Master's degree in science communication, public relations, marketing or another relevant discipline
- You are fluent in English, with strong written and oral communication skills; additional languages are a plus

Job conditions

- Multicultural workplace in the heart of Brussels
- A 1 year fixed-term contract (with possible extension)
- Salary range: 45k – 47k gross + bonus
- A range of extra-legal benefits
- May involve European travel for meetings and conferences

Application

Email your CV and a succinct letter of motivation in English, to jobs@eufic.org before 5 January 2020. stating "Senior Communication Project Manager" in the subject line.

Candidates need to be in the possession of a work permit for Belgium if applicable. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted. Interviews will take place in Brussels or via Skype in the first instance.

For more information on the European Food Information Council, please visit our website: www.eufic.org