

Speaking Up for Science Action Network (SuSAN)

16 February 2017

The Speaking up for Science Action Network (SuSAN) is an initiative of a group of European experts and organisations committed to scientific accuracy and science communication, who felt the need to support and facilitate expert reaction to misreporting of science in the media.

Vision

Enhanced accuracy and responsible reporting of food safety and nutrition science information in the media, for the benefit of society at large.

Mission

Support expert reaction to inaccurate or unbalanced media reporting on food safety and nutrition science, or coverage of poorly designed scientific studies, with accurate and responsible scientific information, to curtail the harmful propagation of misinformation.

For more information contact the SuSAN secretariat